The University of Vienna is internationally renowned for its excellence in teaching and research, and counts more than 7,500 academics from all disciplines. This breadth of expertise offers unique opportunities to address the complex challenges of modern society, to develop comprehensive new approaches, and educate the problem-solvers of tomorrow from a multidisciplinary perspective.

At the Faculty of Philological and Cultural Studies, the University of Vienna seeks to appoint a

Tenure-Track Professor

in the field of

Islamic Theology

The position:

This tenure-track position is intended for independent research and teaching in the field of Islamic theology. The successful applicant must be very well qualified in at least one theological core area of Islamic theology. The tenure-track professorship will contribute to the progressive development of the area of Islamic Theological Studies at the University of Vienna and further expand the range of courses offered in this area. Close cooperation with the different areas of Islamic theology and religious education as well as interreligious cooperation with various theological disciplines is expected. Experience in interreligious dialogue and an interest in its further development are also expected. The applicant should take into account the plurality of the different forms of Islam and in particular the role of Islam in European societies. Practical experience in the interaction between academia and the political and societal carriers of Islam is desirable.

Pursuant to § 24 para. 4 Islam Law 2015, before this position is filled, "contact on the respective candidate is to be made with the Religious Societies, whereby in the theological core area it is to be considered, that the person be a follower of the doctrinal theology (school of law) affiliated to the respective Religious Society recognised by this federal law." By applying, candidates declare that the latter requirement is met.

Your academic profile:

- Doctoral degree/PhD
